

Design Client Bingo

wants metallic wallpaper in powder and has 3 young boys married couple with separate bedrooms

Mentions mother-in-law helped with last house

Asks "friends" for their opinion on your design.

Asks to see it 'like HGTV'

child/dog proof upholstery in White

Suggests "new" design fee for project has a budget but won't disclose it wants indestructable wood floors

Unrealistic Timeline

can this work in our next house?// with no details on fictitious next house.

wants to save money but hired designer generously offers to have you over for wine in trade for 2 hours of work

Shops online to check all pricing.

Wants you to meet with someone who "wants" to be a designer.

"rethinking things" email sent at 3 am spent weekend shopping with spouse and wants to remove money from budget

5:45 PM Friday URGENT email.

work directive is "inexpensive update" mentions "what a fun job you have"

shows you a dress and asks for that as upholstery fabric.

why is the labor so high on that?

doesn't show fingerprints, water spots, or wine rings.

has more time to work on their house than you do.